

Invitation Request to Join the Dragons Reading Room

Thank you for your interest in the Dragons Reading Room, a private social network designed for current MW students and faculty to discuss books, reading, writers, and writing. In this online community, members can share what they're reading, see what others are reading, and talk about it by posting comments and blog entries, and/or forming groups with fellow Dragons who share an interest in a particular genre, writer, non-fiction topic, etc.

By requesting an invitation to join the Dragons Reading Room, you agree to adhere to the rules for this private online community.

When you follow the invitation link and answer the profile questions, please...

- DO use your school email address.
- Do NOT indicate your gender or birth date.
- If you upload a profile image, DO use an avatar/icon, NOT a photo of you.

Dragon Reading Room Rules

- Respect yourself and others.
- Feel free to disagree with others, but remember the first rule.
- Refrain from profanity and from uses of this network that violate the law or school rules.
- Keep content focused on books, writers, and reading.
- Be accountable, and on that note, keep your password private.

I have read and understand these rules and agree to abide by them. I understand that if I violate these rules, I may be banned from further participation in the Dragons Reading Room and, depending on the nature of the offense, may also be subject to legal and/or disciplinary action.
